

“Historical Display to go up in White County”

We are happy to announce that on the “National Day of Prayer” of May 7th, White County had a media event celebrating the hanging of our country’s nine historical documents in the White County courthouse. The first of these nine documents is the Ten Commandments. Pastor Jim Holmes of Helen First Baptist Church spear-headed the hanging of these documents. With enthusiastic and unanimous support of White County Board of Commissioners, White County becomes one of almost twenty counties of the 159 in Georgia to hang these documents. “I am very pleased to be a part of a church family and a community that sees the value of publicly displaying these very important documents,” said Pastor Holmes. “These documents celebrate our past, present and our future. The Ten Commandments are our moral plumb line, and the others anchor us to a legacy and a heritage that values and celebrates our Judeo-Christian heritage and this priceless gift of freedom... most of all our freedom in the Person of the Lord Jesus Christ.” Travis Turner, the White County Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, said, “It is important that we display documents like these because they ARE the foundation of our country!”

On July 1, 2006, Gov. Sonny Perdue signed into law H.B. 941 http://www.legis.state.ga.us/legis/2005_06/full-text/hb941.htm authorizing local governments to erect historical displays that include a copy of the Ten Commandments. These displays pave the way for communities to further educate their citizens regarding historical facts about our country’s founding.

Ten Commandments-Georgia congratulates White County for making this bold step to take advantage of this new law.

These historical documents are being made available through the ministry of Ten Commandments-GA, Inc. However, TC-GA has never given or placed displays in any government buildings. We serve as a resource for private citizens, churches, civic clubs and organizations to purchase these documents and to present them for approval to their local governing boards, commissions and councils.

TC-GA has beautifully designed, to legal specifications, the nine piece historical display. You may view these unique designs by logging onto to www.thoushalt.org

The following documents may now be legally posted in local government buildings:

1. The Ten Commandments
2. The Mayflower Compact, 1620
3. The Declaration of Independence
4. Magna Carta
5. ‘The Star-Spangled Banner’ by Francis Scott Key
6. The National Motto: “In God We Trust”
7. The Preamble to the Georgia Constitution
8. The Bill of Rights of the United States Constitution
9. The description on the image of Lady Justice

“First Ten Commandments Brochures Mailed to Hart, Elbert and Barrow Counties”

November 11, 2007

Ten Commandments Georgia is pleased to announce their first series of Ten Commandments brochure mail-outs. (See link below) One of TC-GA's goals is to send a copy of the Ten Commandments to every home in the state. In an attempt to reach that goal, over 49,000 copies of the Ten Commandments were mailed to the counties of Hart, Elbert and Barrow. Dr. Jody Hice of TC-GA said, "This is a great start toward repentance that our country needs to take. Just the availability of one copy of the Ten Commandments being displayed in a home could make a difference in restoring the common moral conscience of our state."

Each brochure has a 5x7 copy of the Ten Commandments that can be pulled out and framed. The brochure also has information about TC-GA and a challenge to return to the historical roots that our country was founded upon.

If you would be interested in contributing to this project or if you are interested in seeing this brochure mailed to the citizens of your county, feel free to contact our office. We will be happy help your community start, at least a small step of repentance to returning to the moral foundations that once made our country great.
